

ABSTRACT

- 5 A method for scoring indexing concepts for their relevancy in the context, including obtaining a collection of documents, classifying the collection of documents to a set of indexing concepts and scoring each indexing concept according to the relevancy of the indexing concept to the collection of documents.